AI Engineer and Fullstack Developer with 2+ years of engineering experience, specializing in building autonomous AI agents, RAG-based intelligent systems, and production-ready AI applications. Transitioned from frontend/fullstack development delivering real client projects through Upwork and Rubyxoft into AI Engineering, where I now architect and deploy end-to-end AI solutions using Python, LangChain, FastAPI, and modern LLM APIs. Proven ability to ship production systems: from multi-model AI assistants and RAG-powered customer service chatbots to AI content generators with full authentication and database integration. All projects live and publicly accessible. Strong fullstack foundation in React, Vue, Node.js, and TypeScript enables me to build complete systems from model to interface without relying on separate frontend teams. Currently open to AI Engineer and AI Automation Engineer roles, as well as freelance projects in agentic AI, chatbot development, and workflow automation.
